The General Association of the Congressional Ministers and Churches of Illinois have just held at Galeaburg, their 18th Annual Meeting. One of their earliest acts was to appoint a special committee to prepare with care a suitable expression of the views of the Association on the state of the country. The committee consisted of Rev. Mr. Patton of Chicago, President Sturievant of Illinois College, Rev. Dr. Beecher of Galeaburg, Rev. Mr. Bascom of Dover, and W. J. Phelpa, Eaq., of Elmwood. The committee subsequently reported a series of resolutions, which were unanimously adopted as follows:

lina Regiments who were at Culpeper last week had orders to move in that direction, and are reserved, probably in the neighborhood of Strasburgh or Winchester. This is from reliable Southern authority. This Culpeper is in Culpeper cannty, and is not the Fairfax near Washington.

The reperted destruction of bridges on the railroad between Alexandria and Leesburg, will prevent any movement of Southern troops from Happer's Ferry towards Washington; sind if this is followed by taking possession of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad as far as Culpeper and Charlotteville, and of the Frederickburg Railroad, the robels at Happer's Ferry will be completely hemined in and cut off from all communication. This will probably be done. Until these railroads are in our possession, reinforcements can be sent to Happer's Ferry.

The Telegraphic Seizures—255,500
Bispaiches Taken—The Examination in Frogress.

[From the N. Y. Poet.]
The number of telegraphic dispatches seized by Mr. Murray, the United States Marshaj, at the office in this city, was 255,500. There were 285 packages of 700 each. The despatches have not been removed from the telegraph office, but the recom in which they are stored is under the charge of two Deputy Marshals, who have possession of the keys.

The orders for the seizure were received from Weshington asveral days ago, valich shows that Government secrets do not suffer in the hands of the Marshal.

The work of examining the dispatches is coing on today; but the number is so large that it will of course require a great deal of time to look them over. If its believed that a great deal of valuable information has already speculations in regard to the future movements of the Government forces:

During the coining Summer our troops will doubtless be chefty employed in holding the forts, navy yarde, and arsenals now in our possession in the secoled States, in fortifying and protecting the national Capital, in looking sharply to affairs in Maryland, Restucky, and Missouri, and being prepared to protect loyal and punish rebellions elitates in those States; sustaining the Union cause in Wostern Virginia, crushing the Peels in the eastern counties, retaking Barper's Ferry, and subdilling Norrolk and Richmond; and in learning Norrolk and Richmond; and in learning the Indion can describe the state of the holding the property managed. This may be demanded in the host months without impairing the holding heavy columns will descend in the host months without impairing the holding heavy columns will descend in the rose and praires. This may be demanded to the heapth of our troops, provided the Caminarias of the heapthale are properly managed. Then, when autumn shall usber in Invigorating breezes, heavy columns will descend in the read the interior and the west, nor stay the march till our flag waves in trimph over Charleston, Montgomery, and New Orleans. Thanks to heaven, the names of the brave men who pant for this service are Legion.

Gen. Scott's Information Concerning

Capital of New Bahomay.

The Montgomery correspondent of the N. O. Picopasse, writing on the 18th says:

Extensive speculations have been indulged here by the press and the talkers about the removal of the seat of government to Richmond. The mountains have labored dreadfully, and a very small concern of doublful genera has been produced. All the measures adopted looking to the transfer to Richmond, have been conducted in secret, and there is nothing reliably known, only among the members. But people will talk, and I tall you what some of them say. They assert, with confidence, that Congress passed a resolution to adjourn about the Sid Inst., and also to meet in Richmond in July, and people further say that President Davis vetoed the resolution. I have no say to say about this matter, because I am presumed to know nothing about it, but the outside public will talk and I can tell you what they say.

Horrible Tragedy in Greene Co. Illa. (Correspondence Missouri Republica.)

Withinterox, Greene Co., May 21.

On last Salurday night, May 18th, Just at the conclusion of a religious service in this villege, the people, on the way home on the Windhester road, at the distance of a mile and a half from town, heard strange noises, as of women sereaming, and on hasfilly repairing in the direction, reached the former residence of W.M. Macs, an Englishman, when one of the most shocking and terrible spectacles preceded itself.

It was after dark, but by the light of the moon, as the neighbors entered the yard, they epied a dead and mangled body, and on going further found the bodies of Mr. Macs and his wife, both mangled and bloody to a terrible extent.

A pale light was first discovered in the house, which in a few moments revealed the faunt shortly bursting out, the door, yard was discovered standing in blood, and the bodies of the three murdered victims presented a revolting spectacle.

The young man was of the name of Richard MicAuley, about twenty-one years of age. He was short in different places, and, apparently, after he was prostrate his skull was cleft in pieces, and his brains had run out on the ground.

The old gentleman had also been shot and in pieces, and his brains had run out on the ground.

The old gentieman had also been shot and then leaten in a most horrible manner; while the old indy's hands, arms, aboulders, face and neck seemed chopped to pieces with an axe, as if in, her efforts to ward off the blows, the wespon fall alternately on each.

By the time the full extent of the tragody could be discovered—and that there could be no relief afforded to the unfortunate people, all three of whom were dead—it was about nine o'clock at might.

Runners were then dispatched in different directions—some to the village and others towards Apple Creek Prairie, and to Judge Sectyce—spreading the alarm in great haste; and by the time the house was in full it mest there were several hundred people on the spot, in termal inguest was had which cliefted.

Sectye's—spreading the slarm in great hasto; and by the time the honse was in full it mues there were several hundred people on the spot.

An informal inquest was held, which elicited nothing further than this, and on Sunday the parties were buried in the village grave-yard. On surveying the premises Sunday, the fragments of a gun, some pistol balls and a large cub were discovered, that led to the suspicion of some young men in the neligiborhood, by the names of Jim Wilkinson and John Allen, and on pressing those inquiries, young Wilkinson hastily led, and was pursued through the woods on Hurricane creek and round the Datch Mills till Wolmesday, without success. Allen and a younger brother were taken and comfined till this time.

When it became doubtful whether Wilkinson could be found, the Allens were put on preliminary examination before Judge Seeley and Esquire Jones, which recuited in John Allen's, being committed, and William (a younger brother) acquilited. The party retained was then marched, by Sheriffs Fry and Rounan, under a heavy guart, to the prison at Carrelliton, about fifteen miles distant, to await further hearing. The proof was very unsatisfactory, and all circumstantial, but his commi ment was regarded as a service to him even if not guilty, as such was the infuriated state of feeling in the community that the people would doubties have done violence to him if he had been released, and, indeed, a roseue was asciously talked of, but was prevanted by the better citizens.

The general-sentiment in Richmond was that an attack must be made on the Federal forces at Alexandris, but that idea did not prevail se extensively is he came farther North. The public feeling was that was was fully inaugurated, and that while the present is full of trouble, their future is gloomy and dark.

I am informed that several secret meetings of Union men were held at Alexandris and Fredricksburg, and at several other places in the State, with a view to organizing and arming for mutual protection, while voting for the Union ticket. The vigilance of the rebois and difficulty of obtaining arms prevented these plans from being carried out. The rebots allowed a few Union votes to be thrown, to rebut the presumption of coercion.

It was at first intended to attack the name of Washington to the came, but this title having already been chosen by Col. Wilson's Zouaves for their encampment at Quarastine, it has been determined to call it Camp Scott, as a tribute of respect for our splendid cotogenarian General. It has been placed by the War Department under the charge of Col. Williamson of the army, an officer felly qualified to perform the duties of the station.

The Colonel has contracted with Mr. Norman Wlard for three batteries of six pleces each of steel rifled cannon, throwing respectively six, twelve, and twenty-four pound Heichkin's shot and shells, the recent public trials having convinced him of the superiority of three projectiles over all others for rifled ordinance. The Business of the Summer.

The New York Tribune has the following speculations in regard to the future movements of the Government forces:

Gen. Scott's Information Concerning the Rovements of the Secessionists. Occasional, the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Fres, writes:

Some curious stories are told of the manner in which the veteran Commander in-chief receives information of the preparations and plans of the accessionists. Alishough nothing is made public, I think when the annals of these times come to be written, more than one Harvey Birch-till be found to have been employed on the right side, and more than one harve American woman ready to sacrifice ber life to her country.

I have so much confidence in General Scott as to believe that he has allowed in strategic point to pass unnoticed, and that while the people are left in the facts as to the movement of the country, he has regular and accurate information of all the movements of the consciousness of being secure in our present position, and halling hes troops that surround us as so many patriole deliverer, in a moment we may be called to arms or estracked by an enemy which may be within guashot in great numbers.

A subsequent paragraph in the Times, if the england provided a paragraph in the Times, if the england provided in the person of the private intelligence. That paper says, through a correspondent, that since the Person's arrival, Lord Lyons, the British Embassador, "has maintained a "studied allence, declining to speak up" on the political questions in dispute. It is evident that he does not himself handwhat the last advices. If the British Government should determine to recognize the Southern Confederacy, Lord Lyons will probably resign. His opinions that a different policy would prevail, have been so freely expressed that he caimed in honor represent a different course of action. These deposits were not withdrawn, but were transferred from one to another on the books of the bank, which answered all the purposes of the payment of money. At a later period the deposits were allowed to be withdrawn at the option of the owner. The institution commanded the public confidence and continued to transact business for about six hundred years, or until the dissolution of the Regulinent that will bear it. The idea is a beautiful one, and it is most fitting that such a banner should come from the city of his adoption, and from which he went forth to win his first laurels. A subscription was started for the purpose at the hotel, and a considerable amount raised, which will be increased to any sum dealred by the contributions of our citizens. least victory would be conquest, and conquest only.

No one doubts that in these States the se cessionist party has always had an enormous majority, which is likely to be increased by civil war toto a feeling of ferocious unanimity. Those States may be conquered, may be had in military possession, but they can scarcely again be expected to take a voluntary part is the political institutions of the United States Unless the issue of civil war were a slave in surrection which should put an end to the in surrection which should put an end to the in situation of slavery altogother as the result on a train of events which it is utterly impossible to measure or foreshadow—the Gulf States can never again be reasonably expected to act in political concert with the North. THE HYIL. The war which has at length broken or unerics, in spite of the truly legal cau nd forbearance of the President, through resumptuous aggression of the seceders, to doubt be terce and bloody. No one block of without distances presumptious aggression of the secotors, will no doubt be fleroe and bloody. No one can think of it without dismay; no one can ever venture to predict what may be its result; and where it will end. The southern leader have unquestionably the whole responsibility of this fatal step. The blood which has a length begun to flow must be upon them any on their children. They originated the guar rel by their passionate desire to extend the shameless institution of which they are a proud. At every fresh turn of disput they have been the aggressors. They no only declined to submit to a Constitutional defeat, but their statesmen had prepared by years of secret treason for the rebellion of last November. When they have consummated their purpose, and found it Northern States still long-suffering, still relucant to precipitate the unhallowed strict and yet intent on holding their ground in the Federal property still remaining to themshey profited by the delay which the interces sion of the Border States secured cally a mature their aggressive measures, and the do not hesitate to break the true and plying the country into civil war. well conceived and ably executed. They are included to an of prompter mind and more ingroved by a man of prompter mind and more ingroved decision than President Lincoln, and or a time they will probably be successful. The Border States, after cataling a daily long more than the series of the purposes of Mr. Juff. Davis, are now soing of with rapid exploitons to the enemy. Virginia has second, and on the steempt of her froops to este the Federal Atsenal at Harper's Ferry, it was allown up and abandoned by the officer in command. North Carolina has again saized her Federal forts. Even Maryland is ferrough livided. The war feeling is strong in Tuniensee. Kernecky, alone, appears elilit to in-line to the Northern sida. A march on the Marilland was apprehended; and the Northern States, at length aroused to the true charter of the position, were slowly sending at their success to the President, while the bouthern army was said to be completely or the political horizon of those porty political confroveraies which have long frittered away the attention of statesmen and diverted them from the really great issues which were slowly maturing beneath the surface of society-and finally will impress them with the absolute necessity of a closer union, a stronger central power, a suppression of those rapulative forced which keep State and State jealousy apart—in one word, with the duty of turning the FederalGovernment into a really supreme power. Such we think, may, and most probably will be, one-saw its of the disastrous sonilet in which the United States are now enged.

of these notices came to us, claiming to be from so high a source that it was passed without challenge, and even with alight examination, which we sincerly regret, as from our later information concerning a matter of which we previously knew nothing, we find it would be difficult to compact more that is erromeous in similar space, than was contained in the reference to the late decision in the Buperior Court, in our last issue, in which one Rudolph Slomer was plaintiff and Bishop Duggan defendant. Without attempting explanations that have no place here, it is sufficient to say that the point of law was malliciously mis-stated, matters of fact recklassly distorted, and what we regret more, imputations entirely groundless cast upon Bishop Duggan, and upon Mesers. Hervey &
Authony, high-minded and honorable atternies; a more ingenious than commendable use of language in less than twelve lines space.
The party favoring us with this notice deserves this questionable praise, that he seems to have entirely fucceeded in steering clear of the truth, and lodging a mis-statement in nearly every line. Bishop Duggan's connecttion with the whole affair has been characterlized by every trait of Christian forbearance and generosity.

Weekly Review.—During the past week the business of this city, and indeed of a large portion of the entire Northwest, has undergone a complete revolution. We have passed from a fictitious paper currency to genuine gold and silver; and although the operation was both costly and disastrous, yet the general feeling in the ~ mmunity is that the change will work greatly to the advantage of our city and State. that the change will work greatly to the advantage of our city and State.

During the first two or three days of the new order of things, gold was very scarce, and all kinds of produce declined in price; but it is now arriv-ing more freely from the East, as well as a moderorder of things, gold was very scarce, and all kinds of produce declined in price; but it is now arrising more freely from the East, as well as a gooder as equantity of indiana and lows State Bank bills. Some New England and New York paper money has also been received; but it is introduction is not generally searchined.

Meanwhile Illinois currency has become an artification of the state of merchandra, and in the absence of other paper money it is used by retailers at the railroid rausation. So far as general business is concerned it is useless; and in a few weaks it will have passed into the haused of brokers who will send it to Springsfeld te relieve the bends by which it is so imperfectly accured.

The following table shows the receipts and shipments of cealing articles of produce during the past week, and since the first of January, compared with 1800:—

not without some show of reason, that every day's delay, by increasing the dis-ters among the cotton munufacturing population of England and France, will increase the chances of the interfer-ence of the Governments of those coun-tries in our unfortunate quarrel. We do and though we should be greatly gratified to know that the occupation of Richmend is to take place as early as next week, we have that faith in the men who are controlling and directing military operations on the part of the Government, which will make us content to await their pleasure. The march into Virginia is sufficient to dispel all the fear that we have ever indulged—the fear that some insane notion in regard to the illegality or impolicy of acting aggressively by the invasion a secoding State, might by the controlling idea in the Cabinet, and which, if long indulged, would protract the war to the

The adv. and twenty fifth of New York, one from Michigan, and one of the District militis), togother with two companies of cavalry and one battery of artillery, preceded by four companies of picked regular infantry; crossed over the Long Bridge for occupation of Alexandria, and six regiments of Infantry together with a similar complement of cavalry and artillery passed over Georgatown bridge for the occupation of the heightss of Arlington. The former body was under command of Gen. Manafeld, and the latter under Gen. McDowell. The troops commenced moving shortly after midnight. Precisely at two o'clock the crossing of the main bodies began over the bridges, the Wriginia ends of both having been secured it an early hour by an advance guard. The movement was conducted with the unmost quickness and promptness, all the troops Testerday our Legislature closed its extracossion of ten days. Its acts were important, and contrary to legislative custom, the most important things were taken hold of first and properly disposed of. You have already been apprized through my letters and other channels of its chief proceedings. Not very important but yet interesting was one feature of yesterday, just previous to the adjournment. The House took a recess of an hour for the purpose of singing certain familiar patriotic sougs. Among them were several of our recognised national airs, and some of the compections to which the present crisis has given birth. "Star Spangled Banner' and "Hall Columbia," of course, led the way. Mr. Lunt's fine song of "The Hygim Fathors," and Dr. Holmes "Army Hymn" were among the favored songs to which the Legislative wisdom of Massachusatas turned its voice. And right grandly did the iswigivers lend themselves to their work of melody. The enthusiasm was vast. The chorusses rolled up with a swell that made the arches of the hall resonnd. I had not fancied that so much choral force resided in the Legislative lurgs. After the patriotic sentiment was satisfied by the due rendering of our variousinational anthems, a spirit of devottion fell on the assembly betook itself to the harmonious interpretation of certain psain tames known among us as "Continental," "Prany-royal," and the like. The robust tenors and profound bases roamed with utter freedom and the mass of "mylesty" and the fuges of "Now Jornas"

Gen. Scott, the conqueror of Mexico, has been engread for months past in preparing for an attack, and there is small probability of the enemy taking him by surprise. It is understood, moreover, that the Cabinet has resolved to carry out his plan of campaign against the second States; and in-asmuch as no officer has yet been named to command the Federal Army, in the field, it may be designed that the General shall carry out his own plans in person. If so, we must prepare for much shue of him, both in Europe and in his own country.

Lieut Gen. Winfield Scott is by no means a popular commander until the close of the campaign, for he manenters long, fights as little as possible, and wins unexpectedly.
